

GENERAL EDUCATION PILLARS

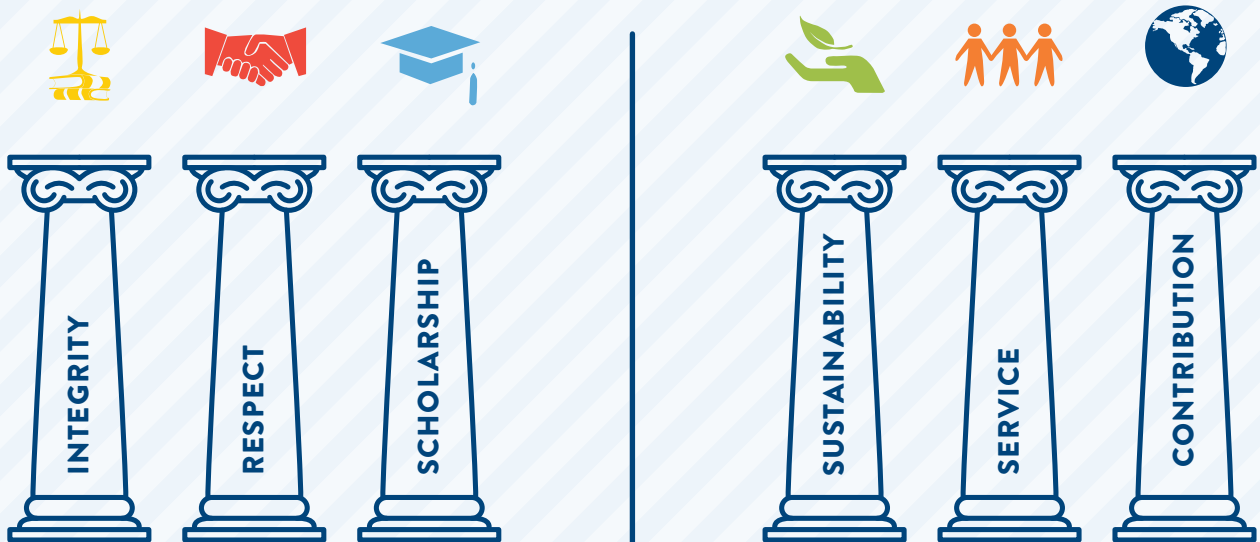

Almost every four-year college or university has general education requirements that students must meet in order to graduate. These courses are not always related to your major, but provide you with a strong foundation of knowledge across multiple disciplines and subject areas. At Coker, we want you to explore what it means to be a critical thinker and an engaged citizen so we're taking an innovative, personal approach to the whole 'general education' thing.

From each of 2 categories,
